JANETTE LOUGHREY
studio 2

Janette Loughrey specialises in pottery, fused glass work and silk painting. Her ceramic work is domestic ware featuring highly decorated and brightly coloured designs with a third firing of gold.

Janette's early career focused on school teaching for the first 10 years, after which she spent several years working overseas.

On her return to Australia, she began working fulltime in ceramics, working for galleries and department stores, running workshops around the country and opening a business/gallery with colleagues - the Pottery Place and Art For Art's Sake Gallery.

Janette taught ceramics at TAFE and Sydney Institute for many years, while simultaneously working at the Inner-City Clay workers Gallery and her own art practice.
